

Bio – Jaime Griggs

Jaime Griggs serves as Senior Sales Executive for Hohenstein Institute America. In this role, she focuses on building quality, chemical and performance testing programs through collaborative relationships with U.S. brands and retailers and their suppliers.

Prior to joining Hohenstein in 2021, Jaime worked for 10 years in product management at Geneva Watch Group, managing design, production, and quality programs throughout numerous product lifecycles. She brings the unique experience of once managing her own fashion quality programs, to now helping retailers and brands in managing their own.

Jaime holds a B.S. in Fashion Marketing & Merchandising from the Laboratory Institute of Merchandising (LIM College).
